The 18,749± acre eastern Oregon timber, elk hunting and recreation land portfolio being offered by Hood River County is one of the largest private ownerships within the North Fork John Day River Valley available for sale. It is a combination of well-stocked ponderosa pine and Douglas-fir tree farms, and has significant opportunities for both recreation and conservation values. Hood River County Commission has designated these lands as non-strategic to on-going forestry operations, and the Sealed Bid Auction is being conducted to accelerate sales so that proceeds may be reinvested in additional timberland within Hood River County.
